From everything I felt when using the Taiko network, namely: slow transaction processing on the blockchain, slow transactions sometimes piled up and made some transactions fail, To speed up transactions I increased the gas fee, this can be overcome but doesn't change too much to transaction speed. Furthermore, the Taiko bridge and swap sites are good, but sometimes they experience slight problems, For example, after making a transaction on Taiko Swap, the history of completed or pending transactions is not recorded on the site, it is a bit necessary to review Whether the transaction was successful or still pending, so we don't need to check on the blockchain again.
