

As the title says I think instead of any sort of burn mechanism, it would be wiser to use the floor price fund to buy back GMX and convert it back to esGMX which can then be redistributed to GMX stakers.

Not only does this incentivize long term holding continually! It also continues to reward long term holders.