

Good evening,

I hope this is the correct forum - I've been trying to access the AAVE discord without success.

I am new with AAVE and stupidly sent WETH from Metamask to an ETH address associated with my Kraken account without first unwrapping it. I know this was dumb, I was too tired to realize I shouldn't be doing money stuff while fatigued.

Kraken support does not reverse transactions made with wrong formats, so it's currently the most expensive lesson I've ever had.

Thing is, I could really use the cash, so I'm grasping at straws while teaching myself a lot about smart contracts and transactions. Is there any hope at all of undoing my dumb mistake?

Here's the details:

Ethereum (ETH) detailed transaction info for txhash

Any ideas/info, including pointers in the right direction if this isn't the proper place to ask for help, hugely appreciated.
