

I can account a great deal of my success to finding smaller projects far away from the hype.

Success = profitable investments, passive income generators

Also, understanding the nuances of defi, bitcoin, crypto infrastructure — you know, all the stuff that “NFT” people don’t have time for... this has 10X’d my profitability and enjoyment during the bear market.

On the flipside, ApeDAO may already have too many newsletters, and the community may not want to see newsletters focused on any crypto/bitcoin stuff outside of Apecoin.

I’m just tired of going into NFT Twitter Space after NFT Twitter Space and hearing ignorant opinions about crypto that keep people poor.

But I’ll put the idea out there. It’s simple; it’s something I could do while working on other initiatives. Nice and straightforward. Do a weekly newsletter digging up the gold, posting interviews with devs I meet at conventions, easy explanations of tougher crypto topics. What say you?
