

I'd like to say this I think there would be a lot more participation if things were so hidden if folks like me knew where there funds were and how to withdrawal in emergency cases such as mine it's hard to hear the needs of others when stakeholders / contributors are left in the dark. I notice in crypto there is always deposit instructions but I never see instruction on how to withdrawal in times of need. Not on dapps anywhere u have to dig and no direction when ask for help discord and telegram are wonderful concepts but I'm so afraid of hackers terrified it has me paranoid beyond belief we need a place to feel safe and ask for guidance not just what's yr wallet address then I'll try and help. Not once not one time have I been able to go to discord and find a solution but at least there they give a lot of love and tell u it's gonna be okay. Discord is beautiful for that but we need solutions to funds that have been flung from here there and everywhere at least I do desperately
