

Sounds good. Thanks for the heads up. I've never understood why optional multipliers were allowed. I think Crowdcnt and Atol would have changed tack or de-staked a long time ago if they had been forced to stake on $1xCorr+3xTC$. I will say that I've always thought the fact that we couldn't back test for TC was actually a good thing for the fund as it removed or reduced the possibility of introducing overfitting error into the MM.