

Is it possible to have a function like:

a.) For those proposals to transact with a new counter-party:

b) If this proposal is not passed:

then pause the creator's voting weight say for 3 months? A broad anti-sybil method which should make such proposals designed more carefully and not consuming the consensus of voters (again and again)?