

Why has no training data been provided? Are we really expected to bring our own data pipelines and features and just hand off predictions for more crypto in return? Good crypto features and pipelines cost money to run daily so wondering if numerai really believes the incentives are aligned here for participants to receive some small NMR in return for doing all the portfolio construction work themselves.

In the overview it says Numerai will not be using these crypto signals so what is Numerai getting from this? Reselling the signals?
