

There are a few important things that have been indicated by both the board members & contributors. One of the most pressing would be the need for treasury management.

- Diversifying a percentage of the treasury into currencies like Ethereum & Stablecoins
- Management by an international team of 3-6 experienced crypto-traders
- Smaller percentage of treasury for liquidity pools & yield farming too?

To accomplish this, we'll need a general consensus on how the team is nominated & operates, the need for reporting & transparency, and the amount of treasury allotted to be diversified into other forms.

One of the problems we encountered with staking proposals is that people were drafting proposals independently. I'd like to avoid that trouble by creating early conversations here. I've also found some reading resources about treasury diversifying that I'll share in this thread. Share ideas below!
