

Just an idea here. Uniswap benefits from having liquidity, as do the users. We should have UNI rewards for liquidity mining for pairs with low liquidity. Small drops only, a small bonus in UNI every month of continuous liquidity providing. The only problem that I can see currently is that someone could just make a scam token, provide liquidity for it, and reap the rewards. However I think that legit tokens, Uniswap, UNI holders, and users would benefit from higher liquidity. We would need a system to vet tokens as legit projects, seems like UNISWAP already has them in lists ie Kleros, CoinGecko etc. I think the hive mind would do great on accomplishing this.