

I had always positive MMC, so I started to stake $1x+2x$. Right after I switched it went south

.

Just a thought:

Could it be possible, that my MMC got worse because of the models that are trained on the new data? If the new models are much better, then the old models are hurting the meta model right?