

We've been working on 10xing the data. A lot of what we decide on payouts has to depend on how much easier/harder the new data makes the tournament. We also have a lot of other ideas. I tend to agree that staking CORR on eg preds right now is very profitable for users but in an unsustainable / not that helpful way to Numerai vs other things. But we can't change it before we get further with the new data.
