

and i feel the CORR line following certain trend. For example, the coming R268 and R269, i expect most of traders will go into negative zone. so, if we have choice, better pull your NVM back. and wait for R270 to gradually add in NVM and increase the multiple of MMC again to get better return.

Let me know whether you have similar observation.