

We're inviting collaborators to participate in the Collective Blog, developed and curated by core members of the Enigma community. This effort is led by @hwesterb and @Franklin, who are defining a process for submissions and review in coordination with other members of the Collective. I'll be supporting and making contributions whenever and wherever I can

During the most recent Collective Hangout, we decided to focus on a controversial topic: selling personal data. We're gathering resources and questions here. Our next call is tentatively scheduled for Monday, February 3. In the meantime, we're discussing ideas in our private channels for Collective members only. All are welcome to apply! Learn how to join the Collective.

Read more about the Enigma Collective Blog in this announcement

!