

This all goes into the wrong direction, in my opinion.

Investors should invest in the hedge fund not in data scientists...

The real question is, when are we going to have a real accessible fully loaded hedge fund?

That would make NMR also less volatile and probably individual models less profitable than the hedge fund itself!