

Hey everyone!

Our team of Web 3 product builders is looking for a way to participate in the community more actively and help with Web development. We already have good prior Crypto experience with one of the leading protocols. I would be happy about any input on how to help the community grow.