

I actually recently had the same question. You can see a big difference submitting to the diagnostics as well. The downloaded file has .25 corr with .95 sharpe but the file produced from the `example_model.py` is much worse than that.