

Hi Liz,

I'm just hitting my stride in the tourney, so my interest in Signals is only tentative for now.

What could get me more interested in Signals, is if there was a way to use it as much like the tourney as possible. For me, that would mean:

- no "domain expertise" of stock market dynamics needed (or even used),
- a free (or very cheap) data set I can use in a "feature symmetric" way (as I do in the tourney).

Do you think this is possible, or is Signals just fundamentally different?

Thanks for your thoughts!

Rigrog