

Hi All,

I am developing a new idea called “perpetual rewards” that I feel could be useful to many high-transaction volume Web3 protocols. I would like to introduce it to the Uniswap community for feedback and viability.

This idea focuses on how...

1. a protocol could further economically align itself with its users by making them the primary beneficiaries of the value generated by the protocol
2. a governance-controlled protocol treasury could effectively deploy funds generated by protocol activity in order to help their network grow. . .

If there is interest, I'd love feedback and guidance on how to advance this. Full disclosure, this is NOT advice of any kind (legal/financial). I'm not a lawyer nor has this been reviewed by a lawyer and it certainly should be before any decisions are made.

[

UniswapGovernanceIdea_1

944×1266 106 KB

](<https://global.discourse-cdn.com/business6/uploads/uniswap1/original/2X/6/6bba31f5a694fa85b54f4f1d6ea2e88006b81393.png>)