

I don't mean to be disrespectful but a lot of us are wondering what is taking so long to move forward on these proposals. I don't know about the rest of us in the proposal process and to your teams credit the original questions you posed to me were very thoughtful, but I answered them quite awhile ago and within 36 hours of receiving them. I have been waiting almost a week just for correspondence.

I feel like a little more transparency would ease a lot of peoples nerves. Maybe you could use this topic to update us occasionally?
