

Today we are releasing the first version of our Lido on Ethereum Scorecard. In this scorecard, we outline a set of attributes that we think are important for the decentralization of the protocol, and how Lido is faring against these targets. This scorecard is also linked to on our Ethereum landing page. As our scorecard matures, we will be providing more detail and information on how we are making progress towards these objectives. We encourage the community to participate not only in refining these attributes, but also helping us make the assessment process open and transparent.

When considering the scorecard, especially items related to our validator set, we suggest also taking a look at our Operator Set Strategy.
