

Hi,

I haven't seen much discussion on a proposal to actually toggle the fee switch. The lockup period is coming to an end. Has the community thought through a proposal to actually switch on the fees? There are obvious reasons for a no and a yes.

Yes - UNI becomes an income-generating token and will appreciate in price

No - Incentives becomes misalign between LPs and Token holders.

Potential solution - add back liquidity mining for UNI to certain pools (at a much lower rate)

This may incentivize LP to stay so they can earn an appreciating asset.

Thoughts?
