

How can users evaluate the additional computational costs when using the Aztec Network? Are there any tools for comparing the fees?