

The download of data for each competition round currently comes with code for an example model that performs well. (Note that Numerai have indicated that future scoring changes are likely to reduce the rewards for models similar to the example model.) Performance of all models is public, so you can compare yours against others as soon as you start submitting. Good luck!