

With #GovMonth

more than halfway done, we move from divergence, to convergence.

If you saw the our Friday wrap up you know the community is really sharing their opinions regarding the strategic direction of the DAO.

This week, we continue building out our communications tools but we also segment stakeholders and get qualitative feedback on input provided. Alpha leak: if you participated last week, might be a bonus for continuing to provide your high context input.

Biggest news of all: on Tuesday, the Arbitrum on Gitcoin Grant Funding Fest goes live!

Watch our Arbitrum Grants twitter account for your chance to vote on your favorite projects.

What's happening this week?

1. If you have not signed up for GovMonth rewards - do that now at <https://thankarb.com/>
2. Ethelo - deeper dive on values & sentiment
3. Push Protocol - leaning into web3 native communications
4. Arbitrum on Gitcoin Grant Funding Fest! 100K ARB up for grantees!

As usual, you can find these challenges listed at thankarb.com and loaded fresh on Tuesday. Aside from the challenges, here are the GovMonth happenings during the week:

- Tuesday: New Thankarb.com challenges will be loaded!
- Wednesday: Delegate review of GovMonth during the Open Governance call
- Wednesday: TwitterSpace hosted by ArbitrumNewsDAO w/Ethelo
- Thursday, we may have another twitterspace with Gitcoin kicking off the voting period! (TBC)

In Closing:

We are halfway through #GovMonth and we are starting to see some really good data - we are excited to see where the community sensing takes us and we are excited to finally be distributing funding!
