

I aim to create and maintain a custom bot, tool, or technology resource for the community. And what better way to go about it than getting suggestions from the community one is developing for. I'd appreciate all ideas. The development can also be a collaborative process as well if it needs to be.