

I'm curious if anyone has assessed the risks associated with restaking LP-ETH or LP-LSD tokens, with liquidity being a primary concern. Who should be responsible for determining the restaking tokens and positions for an AVS? Considering that restaking will inherit security from Ethereum, what will happen if the LP liquidity is insufficient to ensure the safety of the service?