

Continuing the efforts from Q2, I've cut down the overall budget by 30% for the quarter, the number of hours by ~30%, and the hourly rate to $85.

We hit all targets for Q2, even though the period was reduced to 2 months due to market volatility during the last proposal.

We did not get to do a network upgrade as it's planned for September, but we are fully prepared, and testing the beta version as it gets released.

The charter was only updated to add a new faucet, since the current one is down and folks are using the Stashh app's faucet.

This quarter's goals;

1. Network upgrade in September
2. Deploy a new faucet, namely faucet.pulsar.scrtestnet.com
3. Support, and any docs maintenance.
4. Finish the examples in Secret.JS templates (I'll try wrap this up in the next day or so anyway)

If there's any other issues you think I should focus on this quarter, please let me know, ideally before the proposal goes on chain, if it has any budget impact.

There's been some good discussions recently around conflict of interest, and whether validators should vote on their own proposals, or any efforts they're involved in. I'll take this up in the governance call today to be clear.

Thanks for your ongoing support.
