

I love the fact that we can show how many new people we have invited the DAO via Disource.

However, there is only way (that I know of) to do that, and that's by email.

We need a link, that we can share across several platforms. It would be really cool if I could create a video, and put a link in the comments, unique to me, that folks could use to get in Discource.

Is there anyway to achieve this?
