

Very cool, fascinating and fun! But just to understand: The IGTP algo is “trained” on the whole set and the image is created per row? That is super interesting actually and I might give it a try.