

Hi everyone, I've been here almost since the start of gmx on arbitrum.

Today I would like to start a discussion about gmx fees from V1.

From the beginning, we wanted to make GLP attractive for LPs, so the fees were divided into 70%glp/30%gmx.

Over time, it should have changed to 50/50, which did not happen.

New version V2 is more capital efficient than V1. We can see enormous success of V2 and we know we are going in this direction.

As we could notice gmx apr is quite small and unattractive for new investors.

I propose that we change the GLP fee to 50/50 to boost gmx apr and make gmx more attractive to new investors. because the price of GMX is also important for the development of the entire ecosystem. Because it will attract more attention and therefore more potential investors to the entire ecosystem.

When we look at the chains we could expand to there are none so far... Most of the other chains have low volume and TVL. So I suggest that we start talking about esgmx boost to gmx stakers too.
