

Should it be done at real time ? An API call to transfer digital currency from one sub account to another ? Or it was handled manually ?