

Creating a channel on discourse or discord to give updates on cryptocurrencies, market news and alpha calls and the latest tech news. We all know everyone on the space is looking for a way to get more knowledge about the space. Having a channel that gives more insights/news on crypto would be helpful and as well be entertaining to people of the community.

- I have seen people pay $200 or $100 to get alpha calls but here all they have to do is to be part of APE COIN DAO as a holder of the token.
- we all know it gets boring when you just read and read about proposals but having a channel that talks about the recent news on crypto and tech would be interesting and also entertaining at the same time.
- This will help onboard more people to the community because some people on this space are only interested in the news and when they are here they pick interest in other activities going on in the DAO.
- for safety each alpha calls can be regulated by moderator so APECOIN DAO wouldn't be held responsible if an investment doesn't go as planned.