

For a very good introduction to the most important ideas I would recommend “learning from data: a short course” book, which was written by some caltech professors, if I don’t misremember. The password in the webpage with the book is “hypothesis”. <http://amlbook.com/>