

The market is currently experiencing volatility amidst potential concerns regarding FTX. As a result, the Aave protocol may experience a higher amount of liquidations today than usual. We recommend that users closely monitor their accounts.

We welcome further discussions and feedback from the community.