

All the targets available are in the data download – there are no others anywhere, and we've never had a system where we get the targets of previous live rounds (maybe some day). However, we are supposedly gonna get the test set targets soon (maybe on xmas with the other new data release?). But we'll see if that really happens when it happens.