

We are seeing a wide adaptation of plasma chains and lots of different projects are building their own sidechains. Isn't it bit inconvenient to deposit ether (or tokens) in every new plasma chains in order to use their services?

Is it possible to deposit once and use them on many different plasma side chains?