

Hello Ape members.

I've been talking to some friends here at our DAO, I still have an idea in my head and I'd like to hear a little bit of your opinion.

I'm a big fan of the game of Poker, many people also love to play poker, would it be a bad idea to try to make some tournaments between us members so that we can have fun and also interact?

we could make a ranking of winners, some prizes for those who are good players over time, and also when we had time we would get together to have fun and with that we could increase our bonds of friendship with each other.

I believe that it has a lot of value to get closer to each other through communities, games, subjects, tasks, etc...

Anyway, I wanted to know a little bit about your opinion and if you also like to play poker or maybe even want to learn how to play, we can also get some more qualified members and be able to teach those who want to learn too.

thank you all and I leave here my big hug to all of you
