

Things get even more clear, when I select models only with >10 NMR steak:

Looks like @richai was right and we should clearly seek to optimize for low metamodel correlation.