

Hey everyone, have followed the discussion on the forums and wanted to pitch in.

Appreciate the great work everyone is doing – including regarding the proposal to continue the liquidity mining rewards in some capacity.

Put together this piece with counterarguments for why there's no need for the rewards right now, and hopefully opening up some new ideas about how rewards could be distributed in the future + what the treasury could be spent on.

Read the text on The Block here: <https://www.theblockcrypto.com/post/86082/uniswap-liquidity-incentives-proposal>