

Hi there guys. Ive recently started trading and had a couple trades open on dydx and a small balance on the platform. Just logged in and since the migration to dydx chain I can no longer see my trades, trade history or any balance on my account.

When I click to confrim changing to the new dydx account its asking me to deposit from metamask and appears like I have zero balance.

Anyone experienced something similar or an I missing something obvious? Any help much appreciated. Thanks

Rich
