Yo Apes!

We're all here because we believe in the future of Apes, ApeCoin and everything about the BAYC Universe and our amazing community. But let's talk about something real - our voting system. Right now, it's like being in high school where the kids with the most lunch money get to decide what's on the menu for everyone. That's not very $APE of us, is it?

What's the Deal?

Currently, the more APE you hold, the more your vote counts. While we respect our whale friends (we see you, and we appreciate you), we've got mad talented builders, artists, and visionaries in our community whose voices deserve equal weight in shaping our future.

The Vision

One Ape = One Vote. Simple as that. Whether you're holding 1 APE or 1 million APE, your voice matters equally when it comes to governance. This isn't about diminishing anyone's investment - it's about maximizing our collective brainpower.

Why This Slaps

Every builder gets a real shot at making their ideas heard

More diverse projects get attention (not just the ones whales like)

Harder for any single group to dominate decisions

Actually decentralized (like we always wanted)

More apes participating = more dope ideas

How We'll Make It Work

Set up a secure verification system (one wallet = one vote)

Smooth transition period so everyone can adjust

Keep minimum APE holding requirement (skin in the game still matters)

Regular community check-ins to fine-tune the system

What This Means for Our Future

More innovative projects getting greenlit

Stronger community engagement

Better distribution of resources to builders

True democracy in the Ape ecosystem

Let's be real - this is a big change. But remember what made BAYC and ApeCoin special in the first place: community, creativity, and the courage to do things differently. This proposal isn't about taking power away; it's about giving power to every single ape who's committed to making this ecosystem thrive.

The Time is Now

If you believe in a future where every ape's voice matters, where builders can thrive, and where our community becomes even stronger - vote FOR this proposal. Let's make ApeCoin governance as innovative as the projects we support.

Together, we can make ApeCoin governance truly great again.
