Hi, this error is actually a bit misleading and you're right that the percentage should be 10x higher. It does make sense that submitting more tickers would lead to a lower invalid ticker rate if your additional predictions were mostly valid. I would recommend taking a closer look at the example preds we give out to ensure your predictions match up correctly.