Going to keep this short and sweet.

My ENG is on an Enjin digital wallet. Sent 5 ENG as a test to my MetaMask, and it's displaying as if I sent 0.0000000005. So then I send 100 more just to make sure I didn't just like wipe out my transfer with a gas fee or something. Nope, now I've got 0.0000000105. Not even a cent's worth. Am I just supposed to eat the thousands of dollars I invested in ENG now? People have been reporting this to MetaMask support according to reddit and it's not getting traction. Anyone got a solution for me?

Can't use Binance either as apart of some workaround, I am US based and binance.us does not have support it appears.