Hi community,

was fascinated by the the "Sign in with Ethereum"@vbuterin listed as an idea what should be built on top of Ethereum in this Twitter thread: https://twitter.com/VitalikButerin/status/1123136930177118209. I would like to start working on that. Is there any additional material or research how that should look like? Noticed that dAuth tries to do something similar but it doesn't seem like it's entirely what was intended based on the comments.
