Do we have any resources to see how much MEV has been extracted by sniping NFTs during mints?

I think it has been quite common on Ethereum (and maybe other chains?) during the bull NFT market.

Not sure what the minting SCs look like but if they all emit a "minted" event and the tx went through FB then it could be parsed and we could find the selling transaction that follows.