I did read that our new product is not EVM compatible, which means that metamask these wallets are no longer used, so our wallets need to be redesigned, right?

Will the project initially use an officially issued wallet or is there already a partnership with some wallet project?