Very interesting, mic – and great data sleuthing.

So, when the id of an old row matches the id of a new row: do you find that either features or target of those rows also match (or correlate)?