Hi all,

I believe we currently lack Accountability Practices and instead of waiting for someone to be "more accountable" I asked myself: "What else can I do?" reason why I decided to compile this idea and present it to the community.

Over the past few months I've heard the community voice out a lack of communication from the Special Council and some of us wonder what have they accomplished during their tenure. Maybe they have accomplished great things, but personally haven't heard about it or there's no way for me to check what their individual progress has been. (example of a well-known BAYC member thoughts down below).

So how can we further increase accountability?

I believe having Daily & Weekly (or Bi-Weekly & Monthly) reports can help the community to objectively understand the progress behind the scenes. It will also increase productivity from the people serving on the Board.

This is not for the faint of heart though, as most people will RUN AWAY when requested to be accountable to others or especially to themselves.

Down below I've compiled two different report templates that could be used:

My goal with this idea is to understand what you guys feel and think about potentially implementing this practices. Do you think we need this amount of accountability from the Board? Or is it too much?

I'm aware that this post is not structured as an official AIP and again, my goal is to gather community feedback before potentially moving to a Draft.

Hey, thanks for reading
