Community Support

The LayerZero ecosystem is a fast-growing network of developers collaborating to build a better future across every blockchain network.

- Find the community onDiscord
- .
- Engage with theTelegram
- group.
- Find code onGitHub
- .

Questions?

We love to answer questions! Questions help everyone learn together, so please don't hesitate to ask :)

OurDiscord is for any real-time conversations, from brainstorming to debugging and troubleshooting. Participants often share interesting articles and other educational content. For in-depth considerations about important decisions and projects, we suggest contributing on GitHub. New issues, comments, and pull requests are welcome!

Feedback

Your insights and experiences are vital to the continuous improvement of LayerZero's documentation and protocol. If you have suggestions, questions, or feedback, we strongly encourage you to share them with us.

If you come across anything in our documentation or protocol that you believe can be improved or if you have constructive feedback, please don't hesitate to let us know. Here's how you can do it:

Leaving Feedback

If your feedback is related to our documentation:

1. Depending on the issue, visit either our[Documentation Repo](Documentation Repo)
2. or[Protocol Repo](Protocol Repo)
3. .
4. Click on theIssues
5. tab and then create aNew Issue
6. .
7. Provide a clear and detailed description of your suggestions, questions, or the issues you've encountered. This could include suggestions for additional content, clarifications, or corrections.

Once you've filled out the necessary details, submit the issue.Edit this page